Governor Robbed by Same Gang That Took $500 in Cash From Cowherd.

DRIVER HELD UP IN STREET

Police Put to Work in Effort to Locate Professional Pickpockets.

"I am convinced that a 'mob' of pickpockets has arrived in Richmond," said Captain of Detectives McMahon last night, referring to several recent thefts of cash from citizens. "Whether they are still in the city is a question I cannot answer. However, we have obtained good descriptions of two of the gang, and I have set all my men at work in an effort to capture them if they are still here. I am certain that these crooks are professionals from out of town."

On Friday N. T. Cowherd, a contractor, was relieved of more than $500 by pickpockets, and yesterday morning George E. Governor, of 7 East Marshall Street, had his pockets picked of $21 in bills and checks to the amount of $10.75. Captain McMahon expressed the belief that the same persons committed both thefts.

Robbed on Street Car. Mr. Governor told the police that he boarded a street car at Ninth and Fourteenth Streets. He noticed four men, he said, acting in a suspicious manner. They posted him, and as the post-office was reached, the quartet alighted. Because of their strange behavior, Mr. Governor decided to follow them.

He also got off. Two of the four started toward the Federal building, and the others walked up the street. He started to follow them into the post-office, when they suddenly separated. He quickly decided to keep his eye on one of them, and went into the post-office. The man he was pursuing darted in and out of the several corridors and doorways, and in a few minutes vanished. When Mr. Governor turned to look for his companion, he, too, had disappeared.

Unaware that he had been robbed, Mr. Governor started up Main toward Eighth Street, when he suddenly missed his cash. He went straight to police headquarters, reported the crime and accurately described the thieves.

Stolen $500 from Driver. Besides pickpockets, other crooks are also busy in Richmond, as is generally the case at this season. Aside from numerous small thefts which were reported, a negro driver was held up at the point of a pistol last night at 8:25 o'clock in Davis Avenue, near Kensington Street, by two unidentified negroes, who robbed him of about $50 in cash and provisions worth $10.

Loud cries of distress were heard by Captain George W. Epps, who was two blocks away, and Police Sergeant Reese, who was visiting his son, T. E. Reese, of 408 Davis Avenue. Others also heard the calls for help, and in a few minutes a crowd surrounded the wagon, in which the negro, who gave his name as Julian Robinson, said he was robbed. He was employed by the Herter Tea Company, of 423 North Sixth Street. Robinson was so excited that he could barely tell what had happened.

Had Cash in Satchel. Captain Epps finally learned that he was on his route making deliveries and collections. He had his cash in a satchel, which was sitting about his neck. In his wagon he had a small quantity of provisions. He said that he was about to take away after leaving a package at a residence when he was confronted by the highwaymen. One of them held a revolver and ordered him to throw up his hands.

He obeyed, while the second took the satchel from him and then the provisions in the wagon. Both robbers ran, and Robinson began calling and shrieking for help. However, the robbers had apparently made good their escape.

A few minutes after the hold-up was reported, Detectives Sergeants Wiley, Kregel and Atkinson were put to work on the case.

Stranger Robbed in Cab. Early yesterday morning Watson Clark, an iron worker, who said he came from Norfolk, was sitting in a cab, headquarters and told of having been robbed of $185 by a negro while in a cab.

According to the police, Clark had been drinking. About midnight Friday he called a cab at the corner of Main and Station, and told the driver to take him to a hotel. Before the vehicle started, he said, a negro got in the cab, offered him a drink of whiskey, and he accepted. He told Captain McMahon that he lost his senses, when he came to yesterday he found himself in the West End and his money was gone. "How do you know you had the money?" Captain McMahon asked. "I took it from my pocket. I was in the cab," Clark replied.

Snatch Thief Gets Purse. Mrs. C. C. Clemons, of 212 North Twenty-sixth Street, was robbed of her purse, containing $20 and a bunch of keys, last night at 7:29 o'clock by a snatch thief, who grabbed it from her hand while she was passing Twenty-sixth and P Streets. She told Bicycle Policeman Taylor that the thief was a negro, and was able to furnish a fairly good description of him.

FULL PARDON FOR GEORGE WILSON

Trial Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney Tell Governor Wrong Man Was Convicted.

On application of the trial judge and the Commonwealth's attorney, who expressed the opinion that the wrong man had been convicted, Governor Mann granted a full pardon yesterday to George Wilson, colored, sentenced at the December term of the Corporation Court of the city of Danville to serve one year in the penitentiary.

It seems that recently a number of orders for a tobacco warehouse were raised, the charges being twenty in law. Since the conviction of Wilson, the man who had been convicted, he had no part in it. The conviction of Wilson in court was only partial, and the man who identified him had shown evidence on the trial judge and expressed his doubts whether he was the man who raised the order. Governor Mann, however, on the papers.

"Full pardon granted because since the trial of Wilson extensive new facts produced in the judge and Commonwealth's attorney, which satisfied both of them that Wilson should not have been convicted."

In a personal letter to the Governor, Judge E. C. Wilson, who was fully into the case, expressing the opinion that the wrong man was convicted through a partial identification, which has since been repudiated. Commonwealth's Attorney Thomas Hamlin wrote the Governor: "For the last time in my experience as Commonwealth's attorney, I am enabled to state that I have convicted a man for the commission of a crime which he did not commit."

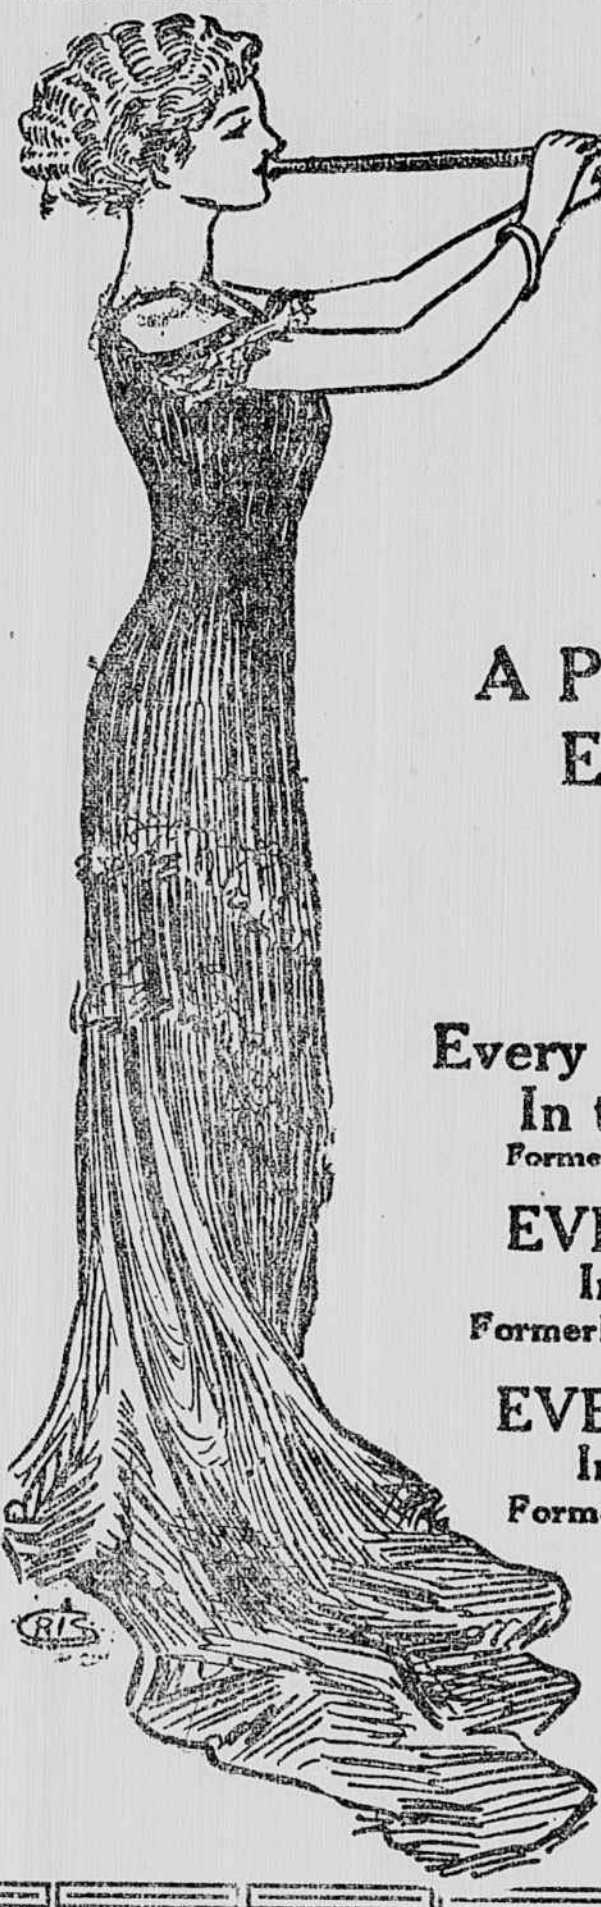

Senator Stone Ill. Senator Stone, of Missouri, is ill at his home. He caught cold a few days ago which developed into pneumonia. His friends were anxious about him today and Speaker Clark and several others who had been concerned in his health were told he was quite sick. President Wilson sent some letters.

S. A. CUNNINGHAM DIES AT NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., December 20.—S. A. Cunningham, editor of the Confederate Veteran, died here tonight after an illness of several days. He was widely known among veterans both of the Union and Confederate armies.

Mr. Cunningham's death was due to a series of hemorrhages of the nose. He had been in a serious condition since Wednesday, when he was found in his office unconscious from loss of blood. He rallied momentarily next day, but later suffered several recurrences of the hemorrhage. He was seventy years old.

A veteran of the Confederate Army, Mr. Cunningham had devoted himself for many years to writing and publishing articles on matters connected with the civil war. He was active in the ranks of the United Confederate Veterans, and since 1902 had been editor of the Confederate Veteran, its organ.

Funeral service will be held here tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Cunningham was born in Bedford County, Tenn., July 23, 1843. He was reared on a farm and obtained but a meagre education, which he later supplemented by extensive reading. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in the Confederate Army as a private. He later was promoted to orderly sergeant, Company B, Forty-first Tennessee Infantry, and then, sergeant-major of the regiment.

He entered the newspaper field in 1879, when he bought the Shelbyville Courier. In 1885 he bought the Chattanooga Times, but sold it four years later. He next founded "Our Day," an exponent of Southern sentiment in New York, but the venture was not successful.

Quarrel Led to Assault. A. W. Thompson, twenty-five years old, was arrested yesterday by Mounted Policeman Whitlow and Motorcycle Officer L. S. Clarke on the charge of assaulting J. W.

Rainey, a coal and wood dealer, of 618 Munford Street. The assault was said to have been the result of a quarrel. According to the police, Thompson, who was in a wagon, drove away after the alleged attack, but was pursued and overtaken by Clarke and Whitlow. Rainey received surgical attention from Dr. M. P. Torregrossa, City Hospital ambulance surgeon. He sustained a scalp wound and a broken nose. Thompson was released under $1000 bail for his appearance tomorrow in Police Court.

Arrested for Shooting Negro. Leslie T. Tilton, a negro chauffeur, was arrested last night by Detective Spur and Amers on the charge of shooting Stephen Meadows, also colored. The shooting took place in Fifteenth Street. Tilton said that he acted in self-defense, as, according to his story, Meadows drew a revolver and would have shot him, but the weapon failed to discharge when he pulled the trigger.

Held for Throwing Lighted Lamp. Joe Green, colored, was arrested last night by Bicycle Policeman Gearing on the charge of throwing a lighted lamp at Mary Christian, also colored.Runaways Sent Home. Arthur Berg and Clayton Lemon, runaway youths from Baltimore, were placed aboard a train and sent home last night by the police, funds having been sent for their transportation by their parents.
